Alarms Central Selects Immix® For Video Automation Platform

Tampa, Florida September 10, 2009 - SureView Systems announced that Alarm Central of Kansas City, MO, is the latest customer to select Immix as their video monitoring automation platform. Alarm Central is dominant regional player in the mid-west monitoring marketplace with an expanding national footprint.

Immix delivers a single software platform to manage all video surveillance/CCTV, intrusion and fire alarms, access control, and VoIP audio.

Immix allows Alarms Central to capture new business opportunities. “We were looking for a way to capture new business opportunities by adding value for our existing customers and by offering our new clients an expanded suite of next generation video monitoring services. Immix allows us to capture these opportunities, and grow this business efficiently within our central station” commented Jeremy Wyble, General Manager at Alarm Central.

For SureView Systems, this represents further validation of the video monitoring market space. “Alarms Central is influential regional player in the mid-west. Through the implementation of Immix they are now able to grow their existing business and target new customers with an expanded portfolio of services. We are very pleased to have Alarms Central join the SureView customer community.” said Matt Krebs EVP of Sales SureView Systems.
